

9. Day of Remembrance. Ostensibly this annual event celebrates the Irishmen who died for Ireland, for World Peace, and so on. These patriots and peacemakers were almost exclusively Catholic. Yet all manner of clergy get a piece of the action. To the orthodox, no piece of the action is due. But to the Jewish and Muslim representatives no quarter should be given. No Jew or Muslim ever died for Ireland or as peacekeepers on the contrary many Irish peacekeepers have been killed and wounded by Jews and Muslims in MENA. It is hard to know what can be done about this FUBAR.
10. A.I. - Hopes and Fears. Pope Leo XIV's recent encyclical letter "Magnifica Humanitas" addresses the A.I. era ahead. The letter is 76 x A4 pages or, and available in English on the Vatican website. An extract - Chapter Two of it - was distributed to the attendance for it consists of the Pope's outline of the Social Doctrine of the Church. Chapter Three is entitled "Technology and Dominance" and is subtitled "The Grandeur of Humanity in light of the promises of A.I." - hence the Latin title "Magnifica Humanitas". And it's weighty.
11. Under Any Other Business we looked at "Comisión no Men" a NGO regulating the media, and funding "deserving" media - especially feminist media. It is presided over by a Jewish man. The Freedom of the Press, essential in a proper democracy is deemed by many observers to be at risk. We shall see.
12. The meeting concluded with Prayer to St Michael Archangel.
